Dear Mr. Lagomarsino,

Quite along time ago i heard that the F.B.I., C.I.A., ETC., were trying to pool there information on people into one large computer. Sometime later I heard that there had been abill passed saying that the people of the U.S. could get access to there file on that computer and see what it said about them. Is this true ? If so how could I get this information from this computer? I do have access to a computer terminal (telephone-teletype) so if there is a need for this in the process it makes little difference to me.

TANKYOU FOR YOUR TIME AND TROUBLE,

Dear Mr. Lagomarsino:

This is in response to your request on behalf of your constituent, Mr. Patrick McCurdy, for information on a centralized computer system within the Federal Government.

The CIA does not pool its information concerning people with any other Government agency in one large computer.

If Mr. McCurdy is interested in determining what information we have on him, he may have access to it under the Freedom of Information Act. He should submit a notarized letter giving his name, address, date and place of birth, to  Information and Privacy Coordinator, Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, D.C., 20505.

If we may be of any further assistance in this matter, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
